

I am looking for someone to come and work for me. The ideal candidate, in addition to being motivated and well-organised, will:

- o already have some knowledge of old books, e.g. as a bookseller or rare books librarian
- o be able to read music, French and, ideally, German; Russian would also be a distinct advantage
- o have an interest in the kind of material I sell (European cultural history, largely 18th- to early 20th-century)
- o be able to write good English prose, with an attention to detail

The position is based in Chesham, Buckinghamshire, nestled in the Chiltern Hills about 30 miles north-west of London, but easily accessible by Tube. A starting salary of £25,000–£30,000 p.a. is envisaged, commensurate with experience.

Please send your CV/résumé, along with a covering letter saying why you think you'd be the perfect person for the job, and a sample catalogue description or book review you've written, to:
